Maeser is turning 40 years old!

In 1975, Marvin and Mildred Maeser started their family-owned and operated plumbing business with a toolbox and a truck. Working out of their home, Marvin was the tradesman, and Mildred handled the books. Their partnership was successful, and now, forty years later, Marvin Maeser Plumbing is still proudly serving Louisville and the surrounding area. For many years, new construction plumbing was our specialty. Over time, we began to look for new and better ways to serve our community. In 2003, we began our service company, Maeser Master Services, in order to provide plumbing, heating, air conditioning service, and bathroom remodeling.

You, our loyal customers, have been with us all along and have helped to shape us into the company we are today. We want to thank you for your loyalty, and we recognize that loyal customers contribute to the success of a small business. We want to say thank you and relay our gratitude for the many times you have referred us to your family and friends. Referrals indicate to us that we have done a great job for you, and we appreciate your trust in us. The comments we receive from you, whether positive or negative are also appreciated, as they are used as a way to improve our service to you. We use these suggestions and comments to coach our technicians about what is most important to you.

Today, Marvin Maeser and his daughter, Melissa Wilson, continue to emphasize the importance of doing the job right, following all plumbing and HVAC codes, and providing work that is of professional quality. Melissa, along with Operations Manager for new construction, Greg Wilson, and Service Manager, Pat Mangeot, work diligently to hire the best licensed technicians possible to provide top-quality service to our community.

Finally, we would like to thank our loyal employees, some of whom have been with us from the very beginning. They represent our company professionally and are integral in helping us provide high quality service to our customers. We appreciate their hard work and commitment to making Marvin Maeser Plumbing and Maeser Master Services the company we are today.

Whole-house backup generator

With spring storms on the way, now is the perfect time to consider installing a whole-house backup generator. The winter snow and ice storms caused many families to be without power. Be proactive! Power outages can lead to:

- flooded basements
- spoiled food
- loss of contact
- frozen pipes
- mold infiltration
- and so much more

When the power goes out, the whole-house backup generator turns on automatically keeping the food in the refrigerator protected, lights and electronics on, and the HVAC system up and running. The generator then turns itself off when utility power is restored. This electrical backup system protects your home and family 24 hours a day and is designed to supply power directly to the electrical circuit breaker box in your home.

QUACKS

Is it time for a new water heater?

U.S. Department of Energy has mandated new energy efficiency requirements for all residential water heaters. If your water heater is over 10 years old, consider having a new water heater installed before our "pre-mandate" stock is depleted. The mandates have already taken effect, so hurry! See the water heater savings on the back of this newsletter.

Spotlight on Reid!

Maeser would like to acknowledge the talents of Reid, one of our licensed plumbing technicians. Reid demonstrates leadership qualities; consequently, we have chosen him as one of our designated trainers for new technicians. His forward thinking has helped us initiate new programs and ideas that create value for our customers. In addition, Reid has made a positive impact on the culture of our team. His optimistic attitude and charisma makes us smile.

When not working, Reid loves being with his family, hunting, and working with the youth at his church.

Thank you, Reid for 7 years of service!
